Why these documents work well for RAG

These PDFs include a variety of content types that users naturally ask about:

- Policies and rules
- Working hours and schedules
- Contact directories
- Step-by-step procedures

- FAQs
- Tables and structured data
- Numeric information (phone numbers, fines, prices)
- Different visitor categories and access policies
- Maintenance priorities and SLAs

This diversity helps your RAG system retrieve accurate answers for both factual lookups ("What time does the gym close?") and procedural questions ("How do I invite a family member?").

For even better retrieval performance, create 30–50 PDFs (1–3 pages each) covering all City Eye modules—Visitors, Family Members, Maintenance, Installments, Events, Surveys, Marketplace, QR Codes, Violations, Timeline, Services, Security, and Community Guidelines—using realistic wording and repeated terminology residents are likely to use.
